Eid Reunion and Parents-Tutors Meeting 2022

Students gathered at the masjid for the event to begin. Dressed in shades of pinks and red, the female students donned their Eid party wear. Female students seated themselves on the left hand side of the masjid and the Male students, dressed in white and cream coloured garbs, settled on the right hand side. Teachers were towering figures observing the disciplined students. The program kick started with Quran Tilawat, the verses of which were soothing to the ears. Students, both male and female, came forward and recited verses from the Quran. The melodious voice and the heart touching verses were impactful. While some students rehearsed beforehand, other students came forward showcasing bravery as they did not practice earlier. Despite lack of practice, the students shared some beautiful surahs with all the students. Quite commendable was this courageous initiative! Our students are becoming leaders and this was just another proof of that. Performances then began in full swing. Starting from nasheed to poem recitation, performance after performance thrilled the students. Furthermore, it was wonderful to hear students share their Eid experience. With every display, the sound of Takbeer resonated across the hall when students and teachers versed the words in chorus. Takbeer reached the hearts of all. Even the young students of Reception did not leave the opportunity. They versed the Takbeer out aloud in front of all. To add to these, a short story with a moral was shared by Ustaza Salma Abu Baker. The story centered the importance of truthfulness. Further, Ustad Nurul Alam Madani shared a short speech on Sunnah and virtues of Eid for Muslims. He also engaged in an interactive session with the students and gave them a small prize as a goodwill gesture for engaging in his lecture. The event ended with the dua session which was conducted by Ustad Luqman. Eidi was distributed at the event end and group photographs were taken for both the male and female sections separately. Students were on cloud nine as they received eidi, candies and snacks. With happy hearts, students departed from the masjid to go home.

While the Eid Reunion was being conducted in the masjid, parents gathered in respective year-wise classrooms for a meeting with the tutors. The tutors gave presentations in front of the parents. The presentation included details about the curriculum and the Mid Term Plan centering the Sum-1 and Summer-2 term. Parents shared their thoughts and engaged in Question Answer session with the tutors. The tutors answered the questions and concluded the event for the day.

Summer Activities: Reception

Leaders on the making

Today, we made lemonade. Lemonade, a great source of vitamin C, keeps us well hydrated. While we made our own lemonade today, we learnt a life-skill. This activity has engaged our motor skills while also giving us sensory details of taste. Apart from the learning, we enjoyed squeezing the lemon and liked the idea of making our own drink.'

Easy peasy lemon squeezey.'

Eid Celebration with Salami

END OF SUMMER HALF TERM PRESENTATIONS

Donned in rainbow colours, the students of Safeer Academy were eager to enjoy the End of Term Celebration. From the students of Reception till Year 5, every student had a smile plastered across the face. The teachers were no less excited. Students were prepared beforehand to present various topics that they learned over the term. The program began with the recitation of a surah from the Holy Quran. That was just the thing needed to calm or racing our hearts. Rhymes were performed by students individually and in chorus. Students marched up and shared Hadiths with the students. Further, students shared with the audience the Quranic Arabic words and then interacted with them asking questions about the words shared. The students excitedly answered the questions and were ecstatic to be able to answer them correctly. It was indeed an educational session for all. Students then went on to display various subject matters. While a student presented a non-chronological report in front of all to familiarize the audience with the concept of this form of writing, another students went on to present a procedural task as the student made a sandwich in front of the audience and taught them how to prepare their own meal. Moving on, an instruction task was displayed as the student instructed students on how to make a paper airplane. Red, green and yellow planes flew in the air as the presentation was being delivered. The event was finally wrapped with the giving of a Nasihah by the Head of QS.

PUPILS' SUMMER ACTIVITIES

WORLD BOOK DAY

Walking into the classroom, students were eager to explore the idea of making books. Colorful chart papers were laid on the tables while glittery shiny pens were scattered across the benches. Are you ready to embrace an hour of creativity to experience what a day at Safer looks like?

A captivating task was assigned to the students on the 3rd of March to mark World Book Reading Day. Students were directed to re-create books that they read in the past and were also inspired to pour out a few words about the book that they read. With smiling cheerful faces, students began carving out papers and cutting pretty poster papers to produce outstanding work. Within minutes, students were divided into groups of two. The topic was decided and then began the beautiful journey of bringing out the different shades of their creativity. 'Macbeth' and 'Goldilocks and the Three Bears' were in the making as students spilled colors on the white of the chart paper. Seconds flew by, and work began on the content of the book. Pages after pages were written by the students with hopes of summarizing the story. But do stories ever end? Well, certainly this has not ended either. At the end of the entire project, students presented us with remarkable books that we would love to read over and over again.

While students enjoyed this activity heartily, there is more to this story. Students learnt so much more than they actually thought they would. As delegation of responsibility and independence of work were the key skills hoped to be unlocked, students sub-consciously developed the idea of working as a team. While one colored, the other wrote; when one spoke, the other made a note; therefore together they completed a task that initially seemed tough, but was certainly not a bore. Just like this, every day at Safer is a working experience where students not only learn, but also indulge in activities that foster their skills that will assist them in their future.
